

Building a Reading Den

Today you are going to learn how to build your own Reading Den with the help of my friend, Fluffy. Fluffy loves to read, however whenever he tries to read, he gets distracted by his friends talking to him and playing loudly. So Fluffy decided to build himself a Reading Den. Follow these instructions to find out how to make your own den.

To build your own Reading Den you will need:

- Blankets
- Chairs
- Cushions
- Accessories

Step 1

Firstly, choose a suitable area to build your den. Fluffy searched everywhere and eventually found a place between the wall and the sofa, which happened to include his books.

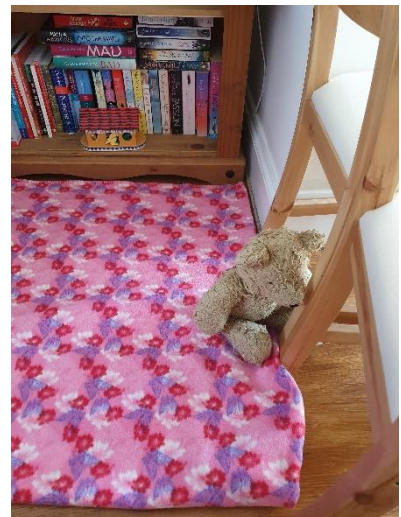

Step 2

After finding the perfect spot you will need to begin working on the floor of your den. Fluffy began by placing a soft blanket on the floor. Fluffy did not want to sit on the hard floor.

Step 3

After completing the floor, you should then start to build the walls. Once Fluffy had placed the floor he began to work on the wall. Fluffy started by using two dining chairs as one wall. Always remember to get help from an adult when moving furniture.

Step 4

Next, Fluffy began working on the opposite wall. Fluffy, planned to use the side of the sofa, but oh no, the dinning chairs are much higher than the sofa. If you want a nice flat roof, you need to make sure that both walls are the same height. Fluffy came up with an idea to use a pile of cushions to make both walls the same height. Good thinking Fluffy!

Step 5

Once you are happy with the walls it is time to place a roof on top of your den. Fluffy decided to use another blanket placed over the tops of the walls of the den. It might be good to secure the roof in place using clothes pegs so that the roof doesn't fall off.

Step 6

The next step is all about personalising your Reading Den. Decorate your den in a way that you like and will make you happy. Fluffy has added cushions to his den so that he can sit and read in comfort.

Step 7

The last step is the most important step. Enjoy your reading den! As you can see Fluffy is sitting comfortably in his reading den enjoying reading Peter Rabbit.
